Mini-Conference and Teacher Sleepover

Hosted by the:

“Jellies Invasion: Oceans out of Balance”

March 12-13, 2010

What?

Pack your sleeping bag for the Mini-Conference and Sleepover at the National Aquarium, Baltimore venue. Spend an enriching evening exploring the sights, sounds and behaviors of the Aquarium’s inhabitants. Become immersed in learning about jellies, an invasive aquatic invertebrate composed of 95% water. We will explore the jelly’s role in disrupting the balance of the world’s oceans and discuss the impacts and solutions to this global issue. This mini-conference promises to be filled with engaging activities and valuable information.

Who?

Classroom and home school teachers for grades K-12, and informal educators.

Where

National Aquarium, 501 East Pratt Street, Baltimore, MD 21202

& When?

The event begins at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, March 12. Please plan on arriving by 4:45 p.m., to ensure that you are included in all of the activities. The event concludes at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, March 13.

Cost?

$60 per person, $50 for Mid-Atlantic Marine Educators Association members (MAMEA). Includes a behind the scenes tour, dolphin show, all of the evening and morning events, teaching materials, evening snacks and beverages, bag raffle tickets, breakfast, and one-year membership in MAMEA. Dinner on Friday, March 12th is on your own.
